C4CC - HEADLINES

It's been more than a year since we started the C4CC project – let's see what have we done so far. The last year saw the launch of our website. If you still haven't, check it out - make sure to take a peak and get inspired.

We are currently finishing up resources for Calendar for Climate Change – our aim is to create a calendar addressing climate change challenges that are appropriate for each month of the year. These resources are country-specific and will comprise a combination of high-tech and low-tech resources for each month's topic. These resources will also be available on smartphones because we're developing Calendar for Climate Change Mobile App!

At the same time, we are developing Inter-generational Learning In-service Programme that will ensure that adult educators are fully trained to harness the potential of the project resources.

The partners used the opportunity to discuss the ongoing development of the calendar for climate changes, and shared their ideas and challenges. Partners also set deadlines and upcoming steps that have to be taken for the successful progression of the project.
